

Patricia Larrabee
Board Member

Current Company: Facility Logix
Current Title:President

Professional Background

Patricia is the founder and President of Facility Logix where she applies her 30 years' experience in the biotechnology real estate industry to the facility-related needs of the industry. She has advised developers and institutions across the U.S. and has overseen facility expansion and implementation programs for clients such as Covance, George Mason University, the Vaccine & Gene Therapy Institute, and United Therapeutics. Pat has also conducted feasibility studies for a variety of wetlab incubators and developed life science strategies for public entities nationwide. Prior to founding Facility Logix, Pat served as an Executive Vice President for Scheer Partners, where she was responsible for the company's Biotech Services Group. She has authored several articles for nationally distributed publications and has been a speaker at Gene Acres and Lab Design Conferences among others. Pat chairs the Board of Directors for Seeding Labs and is a supporter and participant in the Labs21 Initiative.

Patricia joined the WIB Board of Directors in 2012, and fosters sponsor relations in addition to providing strategic guidance on financial planning.
